A Survey about Treatment Preferences Among HIV-Positive Patients

You will be paid $50 if you qualify & give us your opinion.

Merck & Co., Inc. and National Analysts Worldwide are conducting a research study to look at the experiences and perceptions of patients who are HIV positive. The goal of the study is to better understand patient preferences for antiretroviral (ARV) medications based on dosing information and potential side effects.

We're looking for men and women to take part in a 30-minute online survey. You will not be asked to take any pills or try any product. We just want to hear what you think.

You would be paid $50 for giving us your opinion in the survey. Everything you say would be kept completely confidential. Your name will never be linked to the answers you provide and your anonymous answers will be combined with answers from all other participants.

This survey is expected to fill up quickly. If you are interested in taking part, please contact Lanie at Empowerment Resource Center as soon as possible to find out more. Lanie can be reached by phone at (404) 526-1145.
